Notes of a Trip to the Country. CAMPBELLTON, WESTMORELAND CO, VA., ? July 10, 1875.

Editors Dispatch: Leaving your city on he 5th of the month for a brief visit to this county, your correspondent encountered the Eureka Quartette on the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac railroad destiped for the same place to participate in concerts to be given for the benefit of the Ladies' Memorial Association of Westmoreland, having for its object the raising of funds to erect a suitable monument to perpetuate the memory of the dead from their county who fell in defence of the "Lost Cause."

After a pleasant ride to Fredericksburg we boarded the steamer Matilda about 91 tran probable the city of o'clock P. M., and enjoyed a delightful ride down the Rappabannock, arriving at Leedstown about 6 o'clock A. M. Tuesday morning. It was at this place, as your readers are doubtless aware, that the famous British stamp-tax was first resisted in Virginia. At present the village consists of some five or six small dwelling-houses and one store.

Your correspondent again found that he was destined for the same hospitable mansion that the Eurekas were-namely, " Campbellton," the family-sent of mine host Robert J. Washington, Esq. Suffice it to say we reached it in safety. Finding ourself delightfully situated, and at the earnest solicitation of all, we decided, being musically inclined, and believing it to be to our interest to do so, to keep in the wake of the Eurekas. On the day of their arrival the ladies of the Memorial Association gave an old-fashioned Virginia dinner at Oak Grove. At night a concert took place under the anspices of the Eurekas, assisted by Misses N. S. and B. B. Brown and Miss B. Colton, of King George county; Miss L. Lee, of Baltimore, Md.; and the Westmoreland Quartette. Although a severe storm set in prior to the concert, that as well as the dioner was well patronized, and a handsome sum was realized. The singing was highly creditable to all engaged.

Wednesday night the musical people and number of other guests were invited to an entertainment at " Wirtland," the splendid residence of Dr. - Wirt. Here the time was most agreeably spent until the wee sma' hours" in dancing, singing, partaking of refreshments; and we doubt not courting was indulged in by some of the voung people.

Thursday morning we journeyed about fourteen miles over a pleasant road to " Stratthe birth-place of the illustrious Robert E. Lee, where the ladies of the Memorial Association served another bountiful repast. After which the Eurekas gave a concert in the large reception-room of the grand old homestead. A large crowd was in attendance-King George, Richmond, and Westmoreland counties not only being well represented, but Baltimore city, Md., and Richmond city, Va. Among those present from the latter place were Rev. Beverley Tucker and sister.

Both entertainments netted Jarge sums. At the conclusion of the concert Mr. F. T. Beale delivered a feeling and appropriate address suitable to the occasion, and received that meed of approbation it justly deserved. Rev. W. W. Walker and General R. T. L. Beale were expected to be present and de-liver addresses, but were unavoidably detained. General Fitz. Lee was also invited to address the gathering, but sent a letter to the Association expressing deep regret at not being able to comply therewith, At this place days could be profitably spent by any Virginian, at least, who appreciates the early history of his State and the grand people of the olden time. What a theme for reflection as one views the missive old dwelling-house and surrounding buildings built of imported brick during the reign of Queen Anne from 1701 to 1716their antiquarian architecture-all in an excellent state of preservation! Rev. J. William Jones, of your city, has a pleudid engraving of it in his Life of Lee. The old family vault is rapidly wasting away for want of proper attention, and will soon be lost to sight, if not to memory dear, unless something is done to prevent it. It should never be obliterated. Its originality of design is just now beyond positive identification. It is situated about one hundred yards from the mansion, and appears to have covered an area of about ten yards square with the entrance, which is about six feet in length, facing the eastern wing of the mansion. In the vault are six arches running from right to left-three on each side. There is said to have been a number of marble slabs erected in various crevices that were in the yault to the memory of the departed whose remains were buried therein, but the only one supposed to be extant is that erected to the memory of the grandfather and grandmother of the late General R. E. Lee. This lies in the undergrowth, flat on the ground, about twenty feet distant from the vault, and unless your attention was

STRATFORD HALL. On returning from " Stratford " we passed the birth-place of President Monroe, which is about eight miles from "Oak Grove." Friday, by special invitation, our host with his guests visited and dined most delightfully at "Wakefield," the fine farm of Mr. Wilson, situated on Pope's creek and facing the Potomac. I presume it is almost needless for me to inform your readers that here was born he of whom it is said he was "first in war, first in peace, and first in the hearts of his countrymen." An old brick chimney is all that now remains to mark the spot of George Washington's nativity. At night our bost, Mr. R. J. Washington, a worthy sire of the illustrious, banqueted our party and a number of invited guests at his delightful mansion. Harvesting in this county and King George is about over. The growing crops of oats and corn are unusually promising, and a large yield of each is confidently anticipited. Is it a wonder that this is the finest country in the world for good feeding, with its rich soil, pure water, fine cattle, crabs, oysters, fish, etc., etc.

From Buckingham County. [Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.]

BUCKINGHAM COUNTY, July 9, 1875. A sad accident occurred at Bremo Bluff on Friday last. A man named Turner was thrown from a horse and so badly injured as to cause his death in a few hours. He was a musician by profession, and was starting to a concert in the neighborhood in which he was engaged to take a part.

We are having good rains now, which have come in good time, as the crops were beginning to suffer seriously in places. The wheat crop has been reaped in very favorable weather for saving it. The yield is not as great as was expected, but the quality of the grain is excellent. Oats are good and getting ripe. The corn crop is generally promising. Most farmers have finished planting their tobacco, but owing to dry weather and the bore-worm a good many plants have died in the hill. They have been busy replanting since the rain. Two men from Appomattex passed through our county one day this week looking for stolen horses. They had gotten upon the track of a gentleman who was some hours ahead of them, and pushed on in hot pursuit upon saving their horses; and, judging from the past, a thief might expect to fare badly if caught. We have some lightning-rod men now canvassing our county with some success. The ewing-machine men bave suspended operations, having supplied most of the families with that important article of household furniture.

Some days since Mr. John M. Otey, of Richmond, received a letter, in pencil, signed M. H. Morgan, written from Yosamite Valley, Cal., dited June 23d, of such character and containing such intimations as induced be belief that it was written by Galt, and the letter was at once forwarded to P. J. Otey here, and upon examining the contents the following information was gleaned: The writer had on deposit in the bankinghouse of Vermillye & Co., of New York, about $6,700, and enclosing the express receipt for the package, which package contained papers and letters which would identify him as Morgan with Vermillye & Co., New York, and also pipers ecabling the bank to get two trunks in Montreal, Canada, containing two robes and some tricks" belonging to the writer. This letter, with the attending circumstances, rendered it almost certain that Galt was the writer, and the bank officers here at once elegraphed Koon'z Brothers, of New York, to ascertain of Vermillye & Co. if M. H. Morgan had any funds to his credit in their house. The reply was that Morgan had something to his credit, but his identity was uncertain, and that a draft of Morgan's from the Valley National Bank of St. Louis had been returned through their house unpaid. The bank here then requested Vermiliye & Co. to hold the money, as it was certain it had been placed in their hards by the absconding defaulter, Galt. On Tuesday the bank dispatched Major Kirkpatrick to New York to look into the matter, and on Friday he reported that he had recovered from Vermillye & Co. and had in his possession $5,600. Major Kirkpatrick was then requested to proceed to Montreal and examine the trunks of Morgan (so called) there, which upon being opened were found to contain $1 600, and which, added to the first amount, makes the entire sum recovered

The theory of those conversant with the affair is that Galt, fearing arrest, was afraid to carry so much money upon his person, and knowing the house of Vermillye & Co. from his connection with banking-houses in this city sent the money to them by expres-, intending to draw upon it as his necessities required. He is known to have been in Maine, Vermont, and Boston, going thence to Montreal, and then to St. Louis and Chicago, from all of which places he communicated by letter with Vermillye & Co., sending drafts from both St. Louis and Chicago. which for want of identification were dis-bonored. Finding himself getting into trouble, Galt, it is believed, fled to California, where he wrote the letter of June 23d, and believing that the money deposited with Vermillye & Co. was lost to him, the disclosures contained in it were made, he preferring the rightful owners should have the money to those in whose hands it was. Nothing definite of the whereabouts of Galt has been heard since the receipt of the anniversary of the battle of Boyne with a above letter. It is almost certain, however, that he is still in California, with sparp detectives close upon his heels, and we would not be surprised at any moment to hear of his

CHARGED WITH KILLING HIS SON .- Cornelius Dabney, a colored man, who lives at Old Church, Hanover county, Virginia, was arrested Saturday by Officer Saur, of the Southern district, upon information made by Dr. W. Dabney was taken to the Southern district policestation, and committed to jail by Justice G. J. Kreis to await the action of drowned off Malquip harbor to-day during the Virginia authorities. Dabney admits he killed his son, but denies doing so intentionally. He says the boy bad dis-posed of some corn which he had sent by him to a mill to have ground, and after making several false statements as to what he had done with the corn started with his father to show him where it was, the father carrying a shot-gun, as was his habit when leaving home. Before reaching the place where the corn was alleged by the boy to have been left, the boy started to run off, when the father, as he says, in order to frighten him and make him stop, shot off the gun, pointed without aim in the direction the boy was running. The load took effect in the boy's side, producing death the next day. Dabney became alarmed at the consequences of his act and fled, and while making his way to Baltimore was recognized and arrested .- Baltimore Sun, 12th.

THE POSTAGE ISSUES OF THE LAST TWO YEARS COMPARED .- A report just compiled by Third Assistant Postmaster-General Barber shows that 107,616,000 postal cards were sold during the fiscal year which ended June 30 last, against 91,079,000 issued for the year which ended June 30, 1874. The increase, which is equivalent to about 1816 per cent., seems to indicate that the postal cards are growing in popular favor. The value of the issue of ordinary postage stamps during the year was $18,271,479 -an increase of $996,287 over the previous year. The issue of newspaper and periodical postage stamps amounted to $815,902.47; of ordinary stamped envelopes and wrappers to $4,124,477.84 - an increase of $242,284.58; of postal cards, $1,-076,160. The total issue for sale to the sale of official postage stamps for the fiscal year amounted to $834,970.25 - a decrease of $580,874.95 since June 30, 1874; official stamped envelopes, $354,522.18—an increase rica will be held in this city to-mortow.
